

G E T O V E R I T

S T A R T F R E S H

F I N D T H E F L A W S

Valentine's Email

Each picture in this series was created by scanning roses onto a Photoshop file, some utilizing movement, some without.

This card is a representation of a transition from one relationship to another. The first picture "move on" signifies the transition period between two relationships where there is no clear differentiation between the two. The second picture represents the clarity between each relationship. The last picture is meant to signify the moment in a new relationship where one begins to find flaws in their significant other.

Design: This is meant to be scrolled through when opening an email, similar to an advertisement or promotional email.